The University

A brief history survey

The great literate and jurist Cino da Pistoia, living in Marche in the years 1319 - 21, and in Camerino in the spring of 1321, remembers a territory blooming with juridical schools.

Camerino has been a centre of learning since the 13th century, offering degrees in civil law, canonical law, medicine and literary studies.

Upon request of Gentile III da Varano of Camerino Pope Gregorius XI, with the papal edict (Bull) of 29 January 1377, appointed the town of Camerino to confer, after appropriate examination, bachelor and doctoral degrees. The papal edict extended to all of Christendom the validity of these academic titles, which were conferred 'with apostolic authority'.

Students in Camerino were exempted from the payment of all taxes and duties and were free from reprisals, even when hostilities existed between Camerino and their native city. They enjoyed unconditional freedom to enter, live in and leave the city. This privilege was also applied to their servants.

On 15 July 1727, the Pope Benedictus XIII with the Bull 'Liberalium Disciplinarum' reorganized the courses according to the curricula of the Papal Universities. He conferred the University the title of 'Universitas Studii Generalis'. Four faculties were initiated: Theology, Law, Medicine (which awarded degrees in Philosophy and Medicine) and Mathematics.

In 1753, a document of Francis I of Hapsburg - Lorraine extended the validity of the degrees from Camerino to the whole territory of the Holy Roman Empire and conferred the honour of Count Palatine to the Rector.

In 1870, with the Unification of Italy, the University of Camerino was recognized as 'free' and it remains such up to 1958 when it became a State university.

Innovation and Quality

Of importance to the student are the guidelines that determine the choices the University of Camerino makes. UNICAM was the first university in Italy to introduce quality control procedures in its institutional activities according to the international norms UNI EN ISO 9001:2000

by the French certifying company GROUPE AFAQ.

Today 10,000 students attend the University of Camerino, spread across seven Schools (Architecture and Design, Pharmacy, Jurisprudence, Veterinary Medicine, Sciences and Technologies, Environmental Sciences, Biology and Biosciences), and four campuses (Camerino, Ascoli Piceno, Matelica, San Benedetto del Tronto).

In addition to quality, UNICAM offers the student indispensable tranquillity to pursue their studies. The town of Camerino is a university campus immersed in nature. UNICAM boasts of building structures and equipment in continual development, modern sports facilities, dormitories for over 800 students, assistance for the disabled, teaching and scientific libraries and a large number of research laboratories. The orientation, integration, and tutoring courses all aim to assist the student to complete the academic curriculum within the established time frame. The job placement office assists the student on graduation.

The excellent professor/student ratio (1 professor for every 25 students) is another fundamental element in guaranteeing quality of learning at UNICAM.

UNICAM today

Under the new statute, Faculties and Departments have been merged into seven autonomous structures called University Schools or SARRF's, which are responsible for Research and Training. The SARRF's unify the skills of the previous structure of Departments (research) and Faculties (training). The new units are responsible for conducting and coordinating research, training, transfer of skills and knowledge services. The SARRF's have scientific, educational, organizational autonomy. Under University Regulations for the administration, the SARRF's also have financial management and accounting autonomy.

Studying in Camerino

Academic qualifications

UNICAM is putting into practice the university reform established by the Bologna Process. UNICAM offers a rich and varied choice of degrees, as well as many opportunities to continue studies with Masters and Doctoral degrees.

• First Cycle Degree (Bachelor)

This is the Italian first level degree under the Bologna Declaration. It is obtained with 180 credits and usually requires three years to complete. It gives a basic theoretical understanding of the subject matter and is designed for smooth entrance into the job market. With the introduction of the three year bachelor degrees, the traditional four and five year degrees and university diplomas are disappearing. Exceptions are degrees in Medicine, Veterinary Medicine, Pharmacy, Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Technologies and, recently, Law: these are one tier degrees regulated by the European Union.

• Second Cycle Degree (Master)

This is the Italian Master-level degree under the Bologna Declaration. It is obtained with 120 credits and usually requires two years to complete.

This specialization degree prepares the student for specific professions in which a higher level of training is required.

• Double Degrees

The University of Camerino is distinguished within the Italian scene by the number and quality of agreements with foreign Institutes and Universities. Thanks to these agreements there is now the opportunity to pursue Dual Masters Degree Programmes.

These programmes, developed and organised jointly by the institutions, leads to two recognised Masters degree certificates, one from the student's home institution and the other from the host institution. Within this programme students must follow teaching activities for one year in the partner Institution.

UNICAM has recently instituted an international SCHOOL OF ADVANCED STUDIES with the objective of increasing the participation of foreign candidates in our PhD programs. Foreign candidates will receive preferential treatment in the awarding of PhD fellowships within the international School of Advanced Studies.

The PhD courses involve three years of study and research, with a final thesis that can be written in either English or Italian. Teaching activities mainly involve Seminars and topical Short Courses. Research experience in laboratories outside of Camerino is possible and is actively encouraged. Approximately half of the students admitted to the PhD programs are awarded fully paid fellowships. The remaining students need to find external financial support (research costs, however, are covered with internal funds).

- University Masters

are post-Bachelor qualifications (Masters of first level) or post-specialization degree qualifications (Masters of second level). A Masters provides professional knowledge and know-how. It is also open to practicing professionals in need of further qualifications. It is obtained with a minimum of 60 credits.

- Courses of Specialization are post-bachelor or post-specialization degree courses that provide knowledge and know-how for practice in specific professions. The length of study is at least two years. The student then receives a 'Diploma of Specialization'.

- Third Cycle Degree (Doctorate - PhD)

The Doctor of Philosophy degree represents the highest level of tertiary education. It lasts three to four years and is open only to those who have completed the master degree. Admission is by exam and is reserved for a limited number of students who upon successful completion of their program receive the title of PhD. The PhD courses in UNICAM School of Advanced studies involve 3 years of study and research, with a final thesis that can be written in either English or Italian. Teaching activities primarily involve Seminars and topical Short Courses.

Mobility and ERASMUS Programme

The experience of studying abroad can be enormously rewarding. It enables you to gain the maximum from your studies and an interesting curriculum, thus ensuring greater future opportunities.

The LLP/ Erasmus programme is the most well-known cultural exchange programme promoted by the European Union and is aimed at University students from member states.

The programme includes two type of student mobility:

Student Mobility for Studies (SMS)

This action enables students at higher education institutions to spend an integrated period of study of between 3 months and 12 months in another participating country. Erasmus student mobility for studies is carried out in the framework of prior 'inter-institutional agreements' between home and host institutions, both of which must be holders of an Erasmus University Charter.

It guarantees the student the opportunity to follow courses, to use the university structure and provisions and to have all exams successfully completed recognized and accepted for the appropriate credits. All exams are evaluated using the ECTS system and every degree course is agreed upon by Erasmus delegates.

Annual grants are awarded in the period January-March, with a value established by the National Agency of LLP/ Italia. This amount will be supplemented by University funds.

Disabled students, having been selected for a LLP/Erasmus award, can request from their University a supplementary contribution from the LLP National Agency Italia. Extra financial help is available for disabled students to cover special needs.

Student Mobility for Placement (SMP)

This action enables students at higher education institutions to spend a placement period between 3 months and 12 months in an enterprise or organisation in another participating country.

The objectives of student mobility for placements are:

- to help students to adapt to the requirements of the EU-wide labour market;
- to enable students to develop specific skill including language skills and to improve understanding of the economic and social culture of the country concerned in the context of acquiring work experience;
- to promote cooperation between HEI and enterprises;
- to contribute to the development of a pool of well-qualified, open-minded and internationally experienced young people as future professionals.

Student 'placement' is an alternative term to the widely used term 'traineeship' or 'internship'.

Host organisations for student placements may be enterprises, training centres, research centres and other organisations.

The Erasmus programme also offers University staff the opportunity of working abroad within the programme Teaching Staff Mobility and Monitoring Visits. The object of this programme is to observe and compare various teaching methods so as to be able to offer students a more informed approach.

The duration of the period of mobility is from five working days or eight hours of lessons up to a maximum of six months. The EU financial contribution is combined with a contribution from the University.

HEALTH INSURANCE AND MEDICAL TREATMENT

EU CITIZENS (AND EU-EQUATED CITIZENS) benefit by the new European Health Insurance Card. This gives access to immediate necessary Health Care with the same conditions as nationals of that country. It replaces the paper forms previously in use, E111 for short stays like holidays and E128 for study. This card should be requested from the local health authorities in the home country before coming to Italy.

NON EU-CITIZENS, without private health insurance, after getting the permit of stay, can make a request at the local health authorities (Azienda di Sanità Locale/ASL) to be registered at the National Health Service (Servizio Sanitario Nazionale).

A yearly fee of euro 150 must be paid. The SSN provides hospital accommodation and treatment (including tests, surgery and medication during hospitalisation), visits to family doctors (GPs), specialist medical assistance, discounted medicines, laboratory services, appliances, ambulance services and free services at a local health unit (consultorio). Some of these services are subject to a fee (ticket).

Discovering CAMERINO

General and practical information

The town

The town of Camerino is located on a hill at 661 m.s.l. on a ridge between 2 river valleys (the valley of Chienti and the Valley of Potenza). Of pre - roman origins, the town has played an important political and ecclesiastical role through the centuries reaching a notable level of economic and civil development. The wealth of its historical centre and the vivacity of university life make Camerino a significant centre of culture and art. Thanks to its position, the town enjoys a healthy climate with cold winters and warm dry summers. Camerino is just a few miles from the Sibylline Mountains National Park and not far from other places of great natural beauty and environmental interest. These include the Nature Reserve of Torricchio which is owned by the university, the Regional Park of Colfiorito and the Caves of Frasassi. Camerino is close to the ski slopes of the Sibylline mountains and 45 minutes from the beaches of the Adriatic Sea. There is an interesting theatre season, an International Summer Music Festival, concerts, cinema, museums and cultural events, all adding to the human dimension of the town. Camerino always offers something to visitors and students alike.

A Brief Historical Survey

Ancient settlement of the Umbris Camerti, Camerino (from 'Kamars' that means rock) in 310 BC stipulated an 'aequum foedus' (treatment among equals) with Rome. During the Empire, like for other cities of Italy, Camerino knew a period of peace and development becoming episcopal center in IV sec. a.D. Besieged by Goths, it then made part of the Byzantin Empire and Longobard Reign as capital of a Dukendom. In 1259 it was destroyed by the army of Manfredi's imperial troops leaded by Percivalle Doria for its adhesion to the papacy. After the fall of the Svevian Empire, Camerino was managed by Da Varano family that became the protagonists in the recovery and development of the town promoting a splendid age of culture and economic growth. They established a government of nobles and remained in power as dukes until 1539. The passage of Camerino, its

State and Dukedom, to the papal state, didn't eliminate its cultural vocation: the number of academies and scholastic institutions multiplied, and palaces and works of art continued to embellish the city. In 1861 Camerino was annexed by plebiscite and became part of the Kingdom of Italy.

Highlights

Piazza Cavour is a harmonious architectural entity encompassing the Cathedral, the Archbishop's Palace, the Ducal Palace and the monument to Pope Sixtus V, an impressive bronze statue from the late 16th century.

The Ducal Palace was built by the de Varano family, rulers of Camerino from the end of the 13th century to the beginning of the 16th century, in three different phases. This is evident from the façades. The Renaissance part (from the end of the 15th century) comprises the still splendid courtyard, large halls and the impressive subterranean construction that today house university halls.

From the great balcony outside the courtyard, one can enjoy magnificent views of the Botanical Gardens, the surrounding hills and the Sibilline Mountains.

The Archbishop's Palace (14th-16th centuries) with its high portico of the 16th century, occupies two sides of the square. It houses the Diocesan Museum.

The Cathedral, destroyed by the terrible earthquake of 1799, was re-built at the beginning of 19th century in Neoclassic style on the ruins of the ancient Romanesque church. Inside is a 13th century crucifix and the majestic group of Madonna della Misericordia (Our Lady of Mercy) from 1450. Both are carved in wood.

In the crypt, the monumental 14th century Gothic shrine of Saint Ansovino.

Also worth a visit:

the Teatro Filippo Marchetti

The small enclosed courtyard of the Town Hall (Palazzo Bongiovanni, 16th century) is the unexpected entrance to the Filippo Marchetti Theatre built at the end of the 19th century in the traditional horseshoe shape with elegant boxes on three levels and a gallery. The ceiling painted by the Basilica of San Venanzio (the town patron saint). Under the portico one sees a huge portal, a most beautiful example of Late Gothic art of Marche, decorated with statues, pillars and twisted columns. the Tempio dell'Annunziata (15th-16th century) in Renaissance style with its monolith sandstone on a high plinth, now used as conference and exhibition halls; the late Baroque church of San Filippo with its huge, impressive canvas by Tiepolo, the famous Venetian painter of the 18th century).

Ferranti, depicts four scenes from Marchetti's opera Ruy Blas. The theatre, once known as 'La Fenice' was renamed in Marchetti's honour in 1881.

the Borgia Fortress (16th century) dismantled in the second half of 19th century. Two large towers and the keep still remain. From here there is a beautiful view over the Sibilline Mountains.

City Museums

The Convent of St Domenico, now beautifully restored, houses the the Civic Museum and the Art Gallery, as well as the university's Museum of Natural Science.

Civic Museum and Art Gallery

The archaeological museum contains numerous items ranging from the Palaeolithic period up to the time of ancient Rome including inscriptions and inscribed plaques. There is an example of a large mosaic pavement from the second century AD, geometrical in design with medallions containing floral patterns, and some fragments of frescos. There is also an interesting coin collection and a selection of Greek and Roman pottery. The Art Gallery exhibits, among many master pieces, a 14th century wooden painted Crucifix, many examples of 15th century paintings and frescos by Camerino artists (Arcangelo di Cola, Girolamo di Giovanni, Giovanni Boccati), among which is the magnificent Annunciazione e Cristo in Pietà by Giovanni Angelo d'Antonio, one of the most superb Renaissance masterpieces painted by a Marche artist.

University Museum of Natural Science

The Museum contains the scientific (zoological, paleontological, ethnographic, botanical) university collections.

Beside its institutional activities, the Museum organizes, on request, excursions, refresher courses and teaching courses for schools.

The Diocesan Museum is housed inside the Archbishop's Palace. It contains an interesting and precious sacred art collection. The sculptures, paintings, silverware and handicrafts exhibited, covering the period from the 13th to the 18th centuries, come from all over the territory of the large archdiocese.

Every year for a fortnight in the second half of May, the town travels back to the golden era when the da Varano family were the rulers (15th century) with a series of religious and civil ceremonies from the 'Candle Offering', the great Bonfire, the Archers' Competition, the two large, colourful and impressive processions composed of more than 300 people representing ladies, knights, flag throwers, banner bearers and the opening of the taverns in picturesque corners of the city. Most of the life of Matelica revolves around the central Piazza Mattei, with its elegant seventeenth century fountain. Around it you'll find the town's chief attractions - the Loggia of the Ottoni family, built by the town's ruling family in 1511 and the 13th century Palazzo Pretorio, topped by an 18th century tower.

The town

Founded by the Italic population of Piceni, Ascoli

Piceno is the major town of southern Marche. Though a sizeable town with a population of 60,000, its historic centre can easily be covered on foot. If you are wandering round the old quarter that stretches from the banks of the Tronto river to Corso Mazzini, the city main street, be sure to walk along via Soderini and via di Solestà, two characteristic streets.

The central historical part of the city is built in marble called travertino, a grey-hued stone extracted from the surrounding mountains. According to traditional accounts, Ascoli Piceno was home to more than two hundred towers in the Middle Ages: today some fifty can still be seen.

Highlights

Piazza del Popolo the central Renaissance square considered one of the most beautiful in Italy. The Palazzo dei Capitani del Popolo in Piazza del Popolo.

Built in the 13th century connecting three pre-existing edifices, it was the seat of the podestà, the people's captains and, later, of the Papal governors.

The arcade courtyard is in Renaissance style.

The portal built in 1549 is surmounted by a statue of Pope Paul III. The great Gothic church of San Francesco, (begun in 1258) in Piazza del Popolo. The dome was completed in 1549. In the side portal is the monument to Pope Julius II, while the central portal is one of the finest examples of local travertine decoration. Annexed to the church is the 16th century Loggia dei Mercanti, in Bramantesque style of the Roman High Renaissance. The Cathedral of Sant'Emidio, dedicated to the patron saint Emygdius in Piazza Arrigo, houses an altarpiece by Carlo Crivelli (XV century). The Pinacoteca Civica (Gallery) in Piazza Arrigo housed in the Palazzo Comunale (Town Hall) offers a very interesting collections of paintings (13th-17th century). A very special place in Ascoli piceno, is the Caffé Meletti in Piazza del Popolo an historical old fashioned café built in the XIX century, with a spontaneous atmosphere which isn't artificially made for tourists. Caffé Meletti is more than a meeting point, it is a cultural centre, a discussion club, with music events and lectures.

The town

This is one of the main holiday resorts of the southern Marche and, with over 7,000 palm trees on its wide promenade, it has a touch of tropical charm. But it's also a thriving town that doubles as one of the most important fishing ports on the Adriatic coast. The older part of the town sits above the main resort, on the far side of Corso Mazzini, with its castle and narrow streets brick houses.

In summer this is a popular resort and even a lively place with a fun nightlife that's great if you're younger.

The most pleasant stretch of beach - and the highest concentration of good hotels - runs from the centre of town southwards. The beach to the north of the large port area is less inviting although it offers many more stretches of free, public beach.

The ECTS System

What are the Credits?

Thanks to the introduction of Credits, it is today possible to assign a quantitative value to the hours a student must devote to a particular subject.

One Credit is defined as 25 hours of both study time and time spent in the classroom or laboratory.

Apart from the quantitative measure of the Credit, there is the Grade which represents a qualitative measure of a student's accomplishment.

Credits are a fundamental element in the attainment of the degree and something that can be also 'spent' after the degree.

What is ECTS?

ECTS, the European Credit Transfer System, has been developed by the Commission of the European Communities in order to provide common procedures to guarantee academic recognition of studies abroad. ECTS is a decentralised system based upon the principle of mutual trust between participating institutions and it provides a way of measuring and comparing learning achievements, and transferring them from one institution to another.

ECTS Grade

% of successful students normally achieving the grade

Definition

A	10
EXCELLENT outstanding performance with only minor errors
B	25
VERY GOOD above the average standard but with some errors
C	30
GOOD generally sound work with a number of notable errors
D	25
SATISFACTORY fair but with significant shortcomings
E	10
SUFFICIENT performance meets the minimum criteria
FX	-
FAIL some more work required before the credit can be awarded
F	-
FAIL considerable further work is required

The main objective of ECTS is to guarantee academic recognition of studies abroad through the transfer of credits.

At UNICAM all faculties use learning agreements, which need to be signed by the student, the co-ordinator of the home university, and the co-ordinator of the host university.

ECTS grading scale:

The ECTS grading scale has been developed in order to help institutions to translate the grades awarded by host institutions in ECTS.

It provides information on the student's performance in addition to that provided by the institution's grade; it does not replace the local grade.

The ECTS system is mainly based on three elements:

- information on the study programs and the student's results;
- mutual agreement between the institute of destination and the student;
- recourse to ECTS credits and ECTS scores.

Useful academic words: a glossary

Appello d'esame/ Examination registration

This is the date when an exam can be taken. The list of scheduled dates, times and places (called examination calendar) can be found on the Study Course Notice-board and on UNICAM web site.

Associazione studentesca/ Student Union

This is a group of students (not less than 50) with Articles of Association

Ateneo/ Athenaeum

This is a synonym for 'University'

Classi di studio/ Study Sectors

These group the various bachelor and specialist course degrees that share common features. They define the educational aims of degree courses common to all universities. Universities are free to decide the name of their degree courses and courses of study in the syllabuses for each sector.

Corsi ad accesso libero/ Courses with unrestricted number of places

Degree courses not requiring students to sit an entrance examination.

Corsi ad accesso programmato/ Courses with limited number of places

Some degree courses have a limited number of places and require pre-enrolment. To enrol, students must sit an entrance examination.

Corso di specializzazione/ Course of Specialization

This is a post-bachelor or post-specialization degree course providing the practical tools for specific professions. The course length is at least two years. At the end of the course the student attains a Diploma di Specializzazione

Crediti formativi/ Credits

Credits are a measure of the amount of work required to pass an exam. Credits are not a substitute for the exam mark. They represent the quantity of knowledge contained in the subject matter of the course taught. As a rule, one credit corresponds to 25 hours of 'work' (attendance at lectures, individual study, exercises, laboratories). Each instruction activity corresponds to a number of credits calculated on the basis of the time required to prepare for (and pass) the exam on that subject matter.

Diritto allo studio/ Study Facility Rights

This states the right of students to use the university facilities and services. Services include: study rooms, scholarships based on Merit and Income, exemption from fees, opportunities for part-time work (150 hours), training and introduction courses for the job market.

Domanda di valutazione curriculum e riconoscimento crediti/ Application for curriculum vitae evaluation and for recognition of credits

Students wishing to re-enrol at the university and students wishing to resume their studies after a break can apply to the Student Registry to have examinations already taken converted into credits.

Dottorato di ricerca (DR)/ Doctoral Degree

The Doctor of Philosophy course represents the highest level of tertiary education. It lasts 3 to 4 years and is open only to those who have completed the specialization degree. The Courses have a limited number of places and admission is by exam.

LLP/ ERASMUS Student Mobility

This programme allows students to spend a period of study (from 3 to 12 months) at European Universities that have signed a bilateral agreement with this University, guaranteeing the student the opportunity of following courses, using university facilities and having exams passed successfully recognized by appropriate credits (ECTS system).

ERSU Ente Regionale per il diritto allo studio universitario/ ERSU Regional Agency for the Right to Higher Education

This agency principally offers scholarships, lodging in university halls and catering service in university canteens

Esame/ Examination

This is the (written or oral) test held at the completion of a study course.

Immatricolazione / Enrolment

Immatricolazione (enrolment) means the Registration for the first year of a degree course. Each student is assigned a student number (numero di matricola), a student record book, a magnetic swipe card for accessing university canteens and other facilities, plus a personal email address.

Indicatore ISEE/ ISEE indicator

The ISEE (Equivalent Economic Situation Indicator) is a tool that measures the economic status of families in Italy. It takes into account income, assets and characteristics of a household.

Pre-immatricolazione/ Pre-enrolment

Students wishing to sit for entrance examinations to a degree course must apply for pre-enrolment and pay a pre-enrolment fee.

Laurea specialistica (LS) o magistrale (LM)/ Specialist (LS) or Master (LM) Degree

This is attained at the end of a course of two years study and requires a final thesis. It is open to those already in the possession of a first Level Degree. This course prepares the student for specific professions which require a higher level of training.

Laurea magistrale a ciclo unico/ One tier master degree

With the introduction of the combined degrees system, the traditional four or five year degrees are disappearing. Exceptions are degrees in Medicine, Veterinary Medicine, Pharmacy, Chemistry and Pharmaceutical Technologies - and, recently, Jurisprudence - as regulated by the European Union. Students can enroll directly after the school diploma, without first getting a Bachelor Degree. These course last five or six years. There is a final thesis.

Laurea di I livello (o triennale)/ Bachelor Degree

This is the first degree offered by the university and it is attained after a three year course (180 credits). It is made up of a defined number of teaching subjects and of other educational activities including training, workshops and so on. The Bachelor Degree course provides a basic theoretical understanding of the subject matter and is designed for an easy entry into the job market.

Libretto universitario/ Student record book

This booklet is held by the student for the duration of the University course. The booklet records the student number (see below), enrolment year, and the exams that have been passed together with the mark.

Manager didattico/ Didactic Manager

The didactic manager oversees the processes and organisation of the 'academic course' but not its teaching contents.

MD assists students throughout the curriculum, provides general information on study courses organization, on training and internship, on all the educational and support services available in the university.

Master/ University Master

These are specialist courses that can be taken by those in possession of a Bachelor degree (first level Degree) or of a Specialist Degree (second level Degree).

They provide training for the professions and are also open to practicing professionals

Matricola/ First year student

This expression refers to students who are enrolled for the first time at University.

Numero di matricola/ Student Identity Number

This is a personal identity number that each student receives at first enrolment

Piano di studio/ Study plan

This is the course design you choose to follow to attain the Bachelor Degree or Specialization Degree. It includes compulsory and elective examinable material together with language training and computer skills.

Test di ammissione/ Assessment Test

Student wishing to enrol in a degree course where the number of places is limited must pass an entrance examination. This assesses the level of preparation of each student.

Ricevimento studenti/ Student consultation hours

Each university teacher sets aside at least two hours per week for meeting students to discuss all the subject matter important in understanding and for making successful progress in the course.

Segreteria Studenti/ Student Registry

This provides services and information regarding enrolment, certificates, fees, transfer applications from the faculties, applications for course-changes, study plans and graduation.

Semestre/ Semester

The academic year is divided into two semesters, i.e. two teaching periods. Courses are conducted during the First Semester (from October to January with final exams in February-March), and during the Second Semester (from March to May with final exams in June-July).

Sessione d'esame/ Examination session

The academic year is sub-divided into periods during which examinations may be taken. Each period is called a sessione. During each sessione, students may choose the date for sitting the examination (appello).

Tutor

Tutors are certain people able to give advice and teaching support to students.

Voto/ Mark

The 'Credit' does not replace the exam mark. While credits that are acquired by the passing of an exam represent a 'sufficient' level of knowledge of the subject matter, the mark (expressed out of thirty) indicates by how much the student has exceeded the 'sufficient' level. 18/30 indicates a 'pass' while 30/30 indicates 'perfect preparation'.
